The objective of the Forum is to identify meaningful ways for corporate India to partner with NGOs in their specific areas of focus. At this point, the forum has identified its focus areas as education, employability and healthcare.

Participants in the forum include members of the HBS Club of India many of whom are CEOs or a part of the leadership team of their respective companies, domain experts and leaders from several leading and reputed NGOs in India, CSR representatives from the corporate world. The forum is facilitated by the Centre for Resettlement, Rehabilitation & Corporate Social Responsibility (CRRCSSR) at XIMB.

The agenda for the event is attached herewith. The context for the day’s interactions will be set through the two panel discussions. After that, the participants will break out into smaller groups which will confer on one of the focus areas identified, in order to come up with specific implementable plans and partnership models between the NGOs and the corporates.

We believe that this forum will provide an opportunity for the leadership from your organization to benefit from the discussions, enable learning by others through experience sharing. We hope you will accept our invitation and bring your well-considered perspective to these discussions.
